

International Journal of Applied Graph Theory

ISSN (Online): 2456-7884

Guidelines for Special Issues

It is the policy of the IJAGT to enable and even to encourage and initiate the publication of special issues from time to time.

The following are preparation and publication guidelines for Guest Editors.

Preparing a Proposal

Guest Editors should prepare a proposal for the Special Issue and submit this to the Editor-in-Chief for his approval.

The proposal should contain the following information:

- # Tentative title for the special issue
- # A one-page outline summarizing the objectives of the Special Issue
- # Tentative time schedule
- # List of potential contributions (Minimum 5 articles maximum 10 articles)

If there are several guest editors involved in a special issue, one Guest Editor will act as corresponding editor.

Inviting Authors

It is the Guest Editors' role to select authors and invite them to submit papers for the special issue which are of the highest quality in terms of science and presentation. They should also ensure that all articles submitted conform to the editorial and publication policies of the IJAGT.

Each manuscript submitted must be original not published formally elsewhere and must be peer reviewed by at least one specialist in the field of graph theory.

For more information on the aims and scope, Author Guidelines for submitting articles to International Journal of Applied Graph Theory, please click here:

<http://www.ijagt.com/>

<https://www.ijagt.com/authors-guidelines/>

<https://www.ijagt.com/downloads/>

Terms and Conditions

Guest Editors are required to keep in close contact with the Editor in Chief or Executive Editor of IJAGT informing them the full table of contents and the outline of the issue as soon as available.

Guest Editors can contact always through ijagraphtheory@gmail.com

Guest Editors should inform authors of the proposed time schedule for the special issue.

Once the Guest Editors have recommended to accept or reject a paper the final decision will rest with the Editor-in-Chief.

The journal office will inform to authors for the final status of the paper.